

The Company

Ever since the company was established 30 years ago by Edgar Schindele, quality has been the determining factor in the development of FrankenChemie GmbH & Co. KG as a wholesaler of special chemicals.

Thanks to the high quality standards that apply to us and our raw materials, we are a supplier to producing industry in the personal care, household care, and pharmaceutical sectors. Naturally our customers also receive all services that help them develop successful end products.

Here, our special concern is individual support by our field sales and internal sales staff, in order to build a trusting partnership for our cooperation.

Quality Standards

We also do not shy away from a critical view from the outside; our aim is to improve constantly. This is why we submit ourselves and our processes to regular testing and incorporate newly-acquired knowledge and experience into all aspects of our activities.

GMP Filling

This view from the outside is especially important to us when it comes to our filling. For small quantities that are of great importance to small and medium-sized companies and also allow smaller product batches, the constantly high standard of our filling products is ensured. With the orientation of all filling processes according to the DIN EN ISO 22716 quality standard, all batches we deliver and fill comply with cosmetic GMPs.

The Certifications

In addition to filling, which is tested by the certification company Pfeiffer Consulting GmbH according to the provisions of cosmetic GMPs, other external and independent service providers work on our behalf, overseeing various aspects at the company. This should allow you as our business partner to assess quality and it provides us with a traceable system for checking the fulfillment of particular goals, maintaining what we have achieved, and improving still more.

The Laboratory

FrankenChemie's high-quality, well-equipped, spacious laboratory plays a central role in all of this. Internally, it serves the purposes of quality assurance and employee training in the handling of new raw materials. Externally, it serves to analyze customers' problems and manufacture samples on small production machines. Furthermore, the practical parts of workshops are conducted here, so that what people have learned can also be implemented directly.

The Product Portfolio

In order to be able to offer our customers extensive service when it comes to raw materials, we are constantly expanding our offerings. This way, we can serve as contact people for all relevant areas for the development of cosmetic products and technical cleaning and care solutions - regardless of whether the focus is on raw material processing, documentation, formulations, legal aspects or other questions.

Personal Care EVONIK

FrankenChemie offers the state-of-the-art Evonik Personal Care Portfolio; it is the exclusive dealer for innovative, high-quality, and extraordinary raw materials. We promise you will receive qualified application-technical advising, as well as extensive documentation of the products.

Household Care

Our product portfolio in the household care sector offers you numerous, high-quality raw materials for household surface care, as well as industrial, automobile care, and special products for large kitchens. Specialties such as odor absorbers and highly-concentrated mixtures for the simple manufacturing of end products round out our raw material offerings. However, we are constantly on the lookout for other innovative and future-oriented raw materials in order to be able to comply with new legal regulations and the changing desires of end customers.

Plant Oils kbA

These high-quality products are manufactured exclusively from pure raw materials and they are free of animal protein. The spectrum ranges from apricot kernel oil to pomegranate and passion fruit oils to classic sunflower oil. The oils are also food-compatible, always from controlled biological farms.

Natural Wax

Our wax products include natural waxes and are of the highest quality. The waxes are suitable for use in cosmetic formulations and can also be used in the pharmaceutical industry.

Preservatives

With a versatile portfolio of preservatives for various areas of application, you have access to high-quality, safe raw materials for which we also offer a broad array of services. In cooperation with a well-known analysis laboratory, we offer our customers access to all relevant tests and services that are required for successful product development.
